Advisory to NWT Workplaces, Offices, and Businesses

The following interim guidance helps reduce the risk of workplace exposures to respiratory illnesses including COVID-19.

ADVICE FOR BUSINESSES THAT CANNOT CLOSE DURING THIS TIME:

- Post signs on entrances that stop people from entering the office/business if they have symptoms of respiratory illness (cough, fever, runny nose).
- Place alcohol-based hand cleaners at entrances for use by customers.
- Enforce rigorous cleaning and disinfection of all surfaces frequently throughout the day at all times, especially countertops, debit machines, and door handles and other high touch surfaces.
- Restrict cash transactions and paper-based forms.
- Small retailers should restrict the number of customers to less than 10 at a time, or the number of people who can occupy the space while maintaining a two metre distance between them – whichever is less. Mark spacing on the floors to show two metre between customers.
- Large retailers (grocery, hardware and pharmacies) should ensure two metre separation between customers and enhanced hand washing and cleaning of high touch surfaces.
- Ensure distancing between customer by using barriers, changes in work flow, random safety checks, etc.

- Offer shorter and staggered schedules that allow employees to be in contact with the fewest people possible.
- Enforce the highest level of standards for personal hygiene from employees (hand washing, proper use and disposal of used tissues, clean clothes). Visit www.gov.nt.ca/covid-19 for more information.
- Send employees home immediately if they have a fever, cough, runny nose or sore throat. They must call the health center or Yellowknife public health for advice, and self-isolate. They can return when approved by a health care provider.
- Ensure workers follow physical distancing when they are not at work
